Miss or Mrs

The old custom was to call young women Miss and older women Mrs., the age of thirty being about the dividing line, regardless of whether they were married or not. Elizabeth A. Kingsley writes to the Woman's Journal that the usage was right and ought to be revived. "It is annoying," she says, "to be introduced to Mrs. Brown, a silly, superficial creature yet in her teens, and the next moment to be presented to Miss Williams, who at a glance we perceive to be an intellectual, noble, broad-souled woman of thirty-five or forty, worth more than a dozen like Mrs. Brown."

Rose, Shamrock and Thistle

According to the new orders, the British regiments will in future adopt a national badge as follows. English regiments, a rose, Scotch regiments, a thistle, Irish regiments, a shamrock, and Welsh regiments, a dragon. The title of each regiment will be borne on the shoulder strap. The facings and officers' lace will be, for English and Welsh regiments, white facing, rose pattern of lace, Scotch regiments, yellow facing, thistle lace, Irish regiments, green facings, shamrock lace, royal regiments, blue facing, retaining the national lace.

Color Notions

An English lady writes: "I think our English color notions are taking a turn for the better. The melancholy, saturnine greens and yellows of a season or two past have almost disappeared, and the dark shade of red so much seen now is perfect in its way. Brunettes should be thankful for it, as well as for the beautiful gold color, which was seldom seen in dresses until two or three years ago. Blondes can wear it too if they do not incline to sallowness. I noticed a superb blonde at a recent dinner venturesomely attired in gold brocade a shade darker than her hair, and relieved with golden-brown velvet begonia leaves. The effect justified the hazardous experiment."

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

For the speedy cure of Consumption and all diseases that lead to it, such as stubborn Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Asthma, pain in the side and chest, dry hacking cough, tickling in the throat, hoarseness, sore throat, and all chronic or lingering diseases of the throat and lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal and has established for itself a world-wide reputation. Many leading physicians recommend and use it in their practice. RESCUED FROM DEATH

[illegible] was taken with [illegible] bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. [illegible] lost my appetite and flesh [illegible] the summer of 18[illegible] I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone that at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them when to my surprise and gratification I commenced to feel better. My hope once dead began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work. Sold by all druggists. [illegible]

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 24, 1881.

THE situation at Albany, if we are to judge from the conflicting reports, is woefully mixed. Both sides claim the advantage, though the indications plainly show that Conkling stock has advanced considerably during the past forty eight hours.

HON. A. L. KNAPP, a well-known attorney of Springfield, died last evening, in the 54th year of his age. Mr. Knapp served in the state senate two years, representing the Jerseyville district, and was twice elected to congress from the same district. He was a man of fine legal ability, and much respected by all who knew him.

THE Hon. Simon Cameron has been as severely abused and maligned as any living man, but at the ripe age of 83 he enjoys life as much as any boy of 15, and looks back upon a useful career that gives him satisfaction. He has recently given the homestead in which he was born to the Lutheran Church of the village of Maytown, Pa., for a parsonage, with the one condition that the portrait of the deceased wife shall always hang upon the parlor walls

A GENTLEMAN whose name is not given by the Ritchie County (W. Va) Gazette, is said to have written a letter to General T. M. Harris stating that one of his relatives, a lady, who ran the blockade several times during the war, was captured and imprisoned at Washington at the time of Mrs. Surratt's trial and execution and became acquainted with Mrs Surratt, who made some confessions which show that she was guilty.

A LITTLE newspaper published on the United States flagship Trenton, entitled the Trenton Herald says that Miss Clara Louise Kellogg, visited the ship at Villefranche, France, and for the amusement of the officers and crew sang a number of familiar home songs, accompanying herself on the banjo. The account says that "Down on the Suwanee River was better than a dozen Italian canzonets, and the way she handled the banjo and sang "The Yaller Gal Dressed in Blue" would have made Sam Devere pause.

THE Cincinnati Commercial (half-breed) thinks the best thing that could be done at Albany would be a coalition to elect one Democrat and one Republican to the senate in place of Messrs. Conkling and Platt. We hope the Republicans of New York will submit to nothing of the kind. Let them go into a caucus and nominate senators in the regular way, and then let them elect them, as they have the power to do. We are for the Republican party under all circumstances, and against bolts and bolters; the half-breeds are only for the party when the nominee suits them.—Globe-Democrat.

THE Des Moines (Iowa) State Register (anti-Conkling) is not pleased with the suggestion that ex Secretary Evarts and George William Curtis should be elected to the United States Senate from New York. It says:

"If the Republican party in New York had to depend on two such tea-and-toast Republicans as Evarts and Curtis for leadership there wouldn't be any Republican party in New York in two years. Besides, who knows that Evarts and Curtis would stay steadily in the party for that long a time. But if choice should lie between Curtis and Evarts and Conkling and Platt we should say make it Conkling and Platt. That would be bad enough, but the other would be infinitely worse."

THE fruit trade of New Orleans with the tropical regions is becoming an important feature of the general commerce of that city. A few years ago a few small schooners sufficed to carry all the bananas, cocoanuts, plantains, pineapples, lemons and other fruits imported from Honduras, and the business was not regarded as profitable, but owing to the increasing demands in the western states for these fruits the trade in them has grown into large proportions, and there are now four steamships, in addition to sailing vessels, engaged in it. They obtain their cargoes on the islands that lie off the coast of Honduras and on the mainland, and bring them to New Orleans, whence they are distributed by steamboats and rail through the west and northwest. The Honduras government encourages the trade by exempting vessels from port charges and granting them desirable privileges.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when SCOVILL'S BLOOD and LIVER SYRUP will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It is indeed a strengthening syrup, pleasant to take, and has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing Scrofula, Syphilitic disorders, Weakness of the Kidneys, all Nervous disorders and Debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that human flesh is heir to. A single bottle will prove to you its merits as a health renewer, for it acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system. "HELL" AND "DEVIL" IN THE REVISED TESTAMENT.

A writer in the New York Times—evidently a theological scholar—reviewing the changes made by the translators of the new version of the New Testament, says:

There is one word which is not to be found anywhere in the old version, which has been transferred bodily from the Greek to the revised edition. This is the word "Hades," which was used in Greek mythology to denote the world of departed spirits. This word in the authorized version was translated "hell," and the fact that these scholars having this revision in charge have refused to sanction this translation has given rise to the report that the "hell" of the Bible was to be abolished. The report has no foundation in fact. Wherever the word "Gehenna" appears in the original it has been properly translated "hell." The "Hades" of the original has a quite different signification, and by translating it "hell" the proper meaning of the word was obscured. An instance of the use of "Hades" in the new version is to be found in Acts ii., 27, where these words are quoted from Psalms xvi. in reference to Christ: "Thou wilt not leave my soul in Hades, nor wilt Thou give Thy holy one to see corruption." The common rendering "hell," is evidently here wholly unsuitable. The text simply predicts the resurrection of Jesus after His death, affirming that he will not be allowed to remain in Hades, the region of departed spirits. In the thirty first verse of the same chapter of Acts, "His soul was not left in hell" is changed to "His soul was not left in Hades," and wherever the word "Hades" occurs in the original it is retained in the revised version. The "hell" of the gospel, the place of eternal punishment, is retained, but the word used to describe it in the Greek is "Gehenna," and not "Hades."

The word "devil," which appears in the authorized version very frequently, is eliminated in the revised in many places. Two very different Greek words were each translated "devil" by the men who made the King James version. One of these clearly meant the Prince of Darkness. This was the word used in Matthew, iv 1: "Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil." Then there is the other word, the literal translation of which is "demon, which is so often used in connection with those miserable persons who are described literally as 'demonized,' or in the free translation of the authorized version, as "possessed of devils." The rendering of the two distinct words by the same term obliterates to the English reader a very clear distinction which is made in the original. The man "possessed of devils," or "demonized," was not regarded, even by the Jews of the days of Jesus, as influenced by the Prince of Darkness. They were the victims of a disease, some of them being epileptic, others insane and others still deaf and dumb. The revisers have not deemed it advisable to substitute the word "demon" for "devil," when the latter occurs in this connection, but, while retaining the old translation, they have indicated on the margin every instance in which the word for "demon" has been translated "devil." The devil, therefore, has not been abolished in the revision of the New Testament. He occupies a position with the hell of the old version. He has simply been confined to his proper sphere.

A VIGOROUS DEFENSE

The Alton Telegraph concludes a "Retrospect" of the campaign of 1880, with the following vigorous defense of Senator Conkling:

"And shall the noble leaders who organized victory be scorned and insulted now? Shall base ingratitude and withering calumny blacken the memory of Conkling's deeds? Can we, in the weakness of the hour, forget the just? Can the party betray the man who was always loyal to it? We have trusted him before, and he has proved faithful. Can we not afford to believe that his motives are above suspicion now as they have been in the past? Granted that his controversy with the Administration is most unfortunate; granted, even, that his resignation was unwise and impolitic, for so it seems to many, does that, in memory of the past, justify hasty condemnation? The record of a public life unsullied by a dishonorable act, untainted by a suspicion of dishonesty should furnish some protection against the shafts of envy and malice. Men of the talent, ability and devotion to progressive principles of the great United States Senator are too rare in any generation for the people to make light of their services, and any misunderstanding which impels them, through motives of self respect, to retire from public life is a misfortune to the whole country. When the Democracy unite in a jubilee over the retirement of a statesman from the political arena no Republican has any occasion for gratification.

Just will admire those comfortable slippers at J. W. Baker's. apl20.dtf

The Independent (?) Press.

From the Indianapolis Journal (Rep.).

It is a noticeable fact that the independent (?) press, which has repeatedly opposed the nominations of the Republican party, is now most vociferous in reading Conkling, Platt and Arther out of the party. Papers which would not have supported Grant had he been nominated, and so stated; such as the Cincinnati Commercial and Chicago Tribune, now assume to say who are Republicans. It cannot be that people are forgetful of the so recent position of these new guardians of Republicanism, nor that they are unmindful of the fact that Conkling, Arthur and Platt have always been true, while Judge Robertson is notorious as a bolter. He has bolted the party nominations three times. In 1872 he supported the Democratic national ticket. He declared his intention to vote against Grant had he been nominated. He has ever been unreliable and troublesome in New York. It is for such a man the independent (?) press would expel men from the Republican party who have always been faithful to its nominations and principles.

THE American hog has conquered Europe, and the opposition against it will cease as soon as our packing houses exercise a little more care in the preparation of the meat for the European markets. Flour is now fairly following in the footsteps of the hog. According to Vienna papers the increased import of American flour caused the business of the celebrated Hungarian milling industry to greatly decline. It is no wonder that Hungarian land owners and agriculturists are becoming greatly alarmed at this state of affairs, and send deputations of their largest land holdholders and producers of cereals to this country to examine our systems of agriculture and milling. Counts Andrassy and Szecgenji, and Dr. Mayer, who are at present traveling in America, will derive but little comfort from the statistical statements of our flour export during the last four months. From the 1st of January to the 8th of May, 1880, the four principal Atlantic seaports exported 1,696,893 barrels of flour to Europe, and during the same time in 1881 they exported over 2,818,776 barrels, an increase of 1,121,883 barrels for the first four months of 1881. This increase explains, in part, the decrease in the exportation of wheat.

THE Indianapolis Journal acquits President Garfield from any purpose to use his authority for the benefit of any faction in the Republican party, and adds: "The Journal believes in the principles of the Republican party. We believe that that party has done more for the welfare and prosperity of the country during the twenty-five years of its existence than was ever done by any party for any country since the foundation of the world, and we believe that its good work is only half accomplished, and that it should not now be disrupted and destroyed to gratify the private malice of Mr. Blaine or Mr. Conkling, or any other man."

AN interesting and instructive way to spend an evening in a family circle is for one person to read aloud the revised edition of the New Testament, while another, with a copy of the old revision before him, mentions the changes as the reading progresses. In this way the entire New Testament may be read through instructively, and the changes made by the learned translators of the new version discussed profitably. The study might be rendered additionally instructive if a third person who can read Greek should have before him a copy of the New Testament in the original language, also providing himself with a Greek Lexicon.

CONKLING.

EVERYTHING AT SEA.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 23.—But few members of the Legislature remained here over Sunday, and they are greatly confused by the uncertain and indefinite reports sent out from New York. Those here who thought last week there was not the slightest chance for the return of the resigning Senators are not quite so positive, and say it largely depends on their own wish and desire. Some of the State officers, among them Governor Cornell, are reported as saying that if Conkling wants to be re elected it is the duty of the Republican majority of the Legislature to return him, and thus save themselves from stultification.

But few members returned to the city until late this afternoon. Those who first arrived did not know of the Conkling and Arthur conferences in New York until late to day, some of them until they reached the city, others read of them in State and New York city papers.

Those who speak in behalf of Conkling and Platt argue that the State can not dispense with the services of Conkling, that the Senate is too evenly balanced to part with a Senator so practiced and so serviceable to the Republican party, and they claim that with fair treatment at the hands of President Garfield, Conkling will support his Administration much more effectively than any other Senator in the body. They say they feel sure of his being re elected, but are only anxious to have the vote as nearly unanimous as possible. They claim a clear majority of the 106 Republicans and expect to hold a caucus. As things look to-night, everything depends on this caucus. If all Republicans go into this caucus the probabilities are that Conkling will get a majority of the votes, and then, according to custom, the nomination must be made unanimous, but it is said Administration members will not attend this caucus, or, if they do, will not be held by its action if they are outvoted.

Administration members to-night reiterated their declaration of last week that they would not go into caucus with the Stalwarts. If this programme is carried out, and both sections stand apart, the Democrats voting for their own candidate, a deadlock will be produced which will last perhaps for weeks.

The last new candidate is J. H. Starin, of Montgomery county, who is said to be a friend of both Conkling and Garfield, and for this reason he is urged as a compromise.

E. A. Carpenter to-night says Conkling and Platt are sure to be elected, and that there will be a caucus, and all but two or three will take active part in its proceedings. When told that Alvord would not go in, he said it was never expected that he would.

The Assembly Republicans' Caucus Committee sent an invitation to the Senate caucus Committee to meet them. The latter returned word that all their members were not in the city. It is conceded that the caucus is the turning point in the Senatorial question.

Some of the state officers, among them Governor Cornell, are reported as saying that if Conkling wants to be re-elected it is the duty of the Republican majority of the legislature to return him and thus save themselves from stultification. There are no anti Conkling members of the legislature in the city to indicate the disposition or intentions of their wing of the party.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The Evening Post's Albany dispatch says: It's now said that the Troy Times, hitherto a Conkling supporter, will, in its issue this evening, take the same ground as the Albany Express.

The Evening Telegram's Albany correspondent says: The impression is that the stand taken by the Express was inspired by Governor Cornell, who is anxious to get Conkling out of the way in order to run himself.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Conkling men here are talking bolder and more confidently since Conkling has taken hold of the management in New York, and it is given out that one night this week Conkling will, by invitation, deliver a great speech in Albany.

Gen. Kilpatrick, who has seen much of Secretary Blaine lately, says the administration members of the New York legislature will not enter the caucus for nomination of senators, because the caucus will be fixed for Conkling and Platt, and that this condition of affairs justifies anti Conkling members in refusing to join in the caucus, for the reason that the decision of the caucus will be determined beforehand, and that the object of the administration party is to beat Conkling, not to help elect him.

Ex Sheriff Daggett, of Brooklyn, now in Albany, spent all of last week here, and is fully advised of the views of the administration. Among the administration's supporters it is held that the interest of the Republican party requires the defeat of Conkling. It is plain, however, that there is nothing like such confidence of ability to beat Conkling felt here now as a few days ago. Then everything seemed to be against him, but he has rallied his friends, and his superb management of a political battle is not underrated. In administration circles the opinion is held that if Conkling gets back to the senate it must be by Democratic votes, and that such a re election will deprive him of the influence he formerly possessed in the Republican party.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Arrangements for the funeral of the late Colonel Thomas A. Scott have been completed. Services will be held at the house at Woodburn, where the pall-bearers and family will assemble, and the interment will take place at 5 o'clock at Woodlands cemetery. The following gentlemen will act as pall bearers: George B. Roberts, A. J. Cassott, Hon. John Scott, Frank Thompson, John P. Green, R. D. Barclay, George D. Krumbhaar and Colonel William B. Forney, of Lancaster.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 23.—The house of representatives last Thursday unanimously approved of the Southern railroad grant concession, and the bill will pass the senate also within the next ten days. Tehuantepec concession which the railroad commission granted Captain Eads was also approved by the house, and the bill will pass the house with some nonessential modifications that are acceptable to Captain Eads. The inauguration of the Mexican Cuanta railroad will take place June 16.

Oceans of Fun To-Night.

The celebrated Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West's minstrels struck Decatur this forenoon, and will appear at the opera house this evening in a fine programme, introducing new songs, dances, and a new musical absurdity. The troupe appeared at Springfield on Saturday night, and got the following send off from the Journal:

The comedians with this company, headed by two original and funny artists, Milt Barlow and George Wilson, furnished no end of amusement. Eddie Fox, the master violinist, with his imitations on the violin, furnishes a most interesting part of the entertainment, and Fields and Hanson, in their musical act, are excruciatingly funny. The songs and dances and clog exercises of the eight artists, headed by Primrose and West, were artistically rendered, and the music and singing was fine indeed. Among the vocalists the most prominent was the sweet voice of I. J. Kelly, who sings with all of his old-time excellence and who has a voice that makes one think to hear it, of Humbold, when that gentleman was in his prime. The burlesque of "All-I've-Eat," a take off on the opera Olivette, was well rendered by the whole company, the only deficiency noticeable in the cast being the want of such a burlesque prima donna as would have been in keeping with the other members of the company. The whole performance was good and demonstrated the fact that Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West have indeed the monster band of minstrels now before the people.

TWO BAD ACCIDENTS.

Particulars of the Sad Accident which Befel C. L. Harvey in the Wabash Yard this Morning.

A Boy's Head Cut Off, and his Brother's Arm Mashed.

C. L. Harvey, aged 22 years, a switchman in the Wabash yard, who has been in the employ of the company for about a year at this point on the road, met with a sad accident and experienced a narrow escape from a frightful death at about eight o'clock this morning. The locomotive was engaged in switching near the Morgan street crossing of the Wabash, and Harvey had turned the switch that a car might be left on the side track. The cars were in motion, and Harvey was in the act of hurrying between two freight cars to lift a coupling pin, when he was tripped by a board lying near the track and he fell headlong to the ground, his right arm resting on one of the rails under the moving train. In a moment's time one of the wheels passed over the unfortunate man's arm at and above the elbow, crushing it completely. Railroad and other friends rushed to the rescue of the prostrate man, hurried him into I. S. Kaufman's buggy and brought him to the office of Dr. W. J. Chenoweth, who is the resident surgeon of the Wabash company, as quickly as possible. In the absence of the Chenoweths, who had gone to the country to perform a surgical operation, Drs. S. J. Bumstead and A. R. Small were summoned to the relief of the sufferering man, and in due course of time the crushed member was amputated a few inches below the shoulder joint, the patient being placed under the influence of chloroform. Later Mr. Harvey was placed in a carriage and removed to his boarding house at No. 46 East North street, where he will receive every needful attention that money can command or friends suggest. Mr. Harvey is unmarried. He has been connected with railroads for nearly eight years, and was a valued employe of the Wabash, and popular with his companions. His home is at some point in Pennsylvania.

WORSE YET.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock this forenoon while three small boys were angling for crawfish in a branch in the Wabash yard between the Union depot and the round house, one of the boys—Julius Lozies by name, aged 7 years and the son of a Polander—had his head cut off by a car wheel. The lad, at the time of the accident was lying on a bridge which spans the branch, with a part of his head resting upon the rail, and above him was a freight car, that had been standing there for some time. While Julius was in the position described a switch engine backed up against the car, and one of the wheels passed over the boy's head, cutting it clean off. One of the boys under the bridge, a brother of the doomed lad, reached upward to save the boy, and in doing so he had the flesh of his right arm near the shoulder badly mashed, but no bones were broken. An inquest was held, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death, exonerating the Wabash from all blame. The remains of the boy were taken to the home of his parents, who are Polanders, on Jasper street. This sad case should prove a warning to all children not to play in or about railroad yards, where there is always more or less danger not only to little folks but older persons as well.

The father of the boy is a night employe at the Wabash round house.

The Dr. Trowbridge Family.

We find the following of interest to our readers in the Globe-Democrat of to-day, being a part of a long letter sent to that journal by "J. A. D." its correspondent at the City of Mexico:

Judge Morgan has three pretty, bright-eyed daughters, fresh from school in Paris, but thorough Americans for all that. Consul Trowbridge has come up from Vera Cruz with three daughters, who were born in Decatur, Ill., but who after 12 years residence in the tropics are more Spanish than the Spaniards in a certain slimness of shape and sinuous grace of movement. Gen. Frisbie, of Syracuse, has two daughters who are more than half Spanish in virtue of their descent from old Governor Vallejo, the last Mexican Governor of California.

It appears from the above that Doctor Trowbridge has located at Mexico, where he probably has business interests.

THE GRIM GLEANER.

Death of Miss Rainey—Sketch of the Life of D. Allen Brown.

The many friends of Miss Theresa Rainey, daughter of Mr. J. M. Rainey, will be pained to learn that she died last evening, after a short illness, resulting from lung fever. The sad event took place at the residence of Mr. Frank Skelley, on West Eldorado street. The deceased was born near Belleville, Ill., in 1852, and came to Decatur with her father in 1869.

The funeral will take place from St. Patrick's (Catholic) Church, to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock. The exercises will be conducted by Rev. Father Mackin.

THE LATE ALLEN BROWN.

The death of D. Allen Brown, a former resident of Decatur, and the nephew of Dr. W. J. Brown, of Dr. Stoner's drug store, took place at Springfield on yesterday. He was well known to many of our readers. The following obituary notice is taken from the Springfield Post of last evening:

D. Allen Brown, eldest son of Mrs. Dr. Townsend, died this afternoon at one o'clock, of consumption. "Al," as he was best known to his friends and associates, was one of the best and most popular young men of Springfield. He was the son of J. H. Brown who died in California in the year 1866, of the same disease, and was born October 29th, 1856, in the city of Decatur. When he was about five or six years of age his parents removed to this city, bringing him with them, and here he obtained his education in the public schools. After leaving the high school he went to Decatur to learn the drug trade, in which his father was established here, and stayed there two years. He then returned to this city and completed his study of the business in D. C. Brown's drug store, on the southwest corner of the square. Mr. Brown then bought the stock of goods and started in business for himself in 1877 or 1878. His health failing him, he went to Colorado in March, 1879, in the hope of recuperating, but returned in January, 1880, much worse than when he left the city ten months previous. He conducted his business in spite of ill health until a month ago, when he sold the entire stock of drugs and medicines to Charles Ryan, Jr. His health failed very fast after that, and last week he was unable to leave the house. He suffered for several years with the disease without hope of recovery, and towards the close of his life his strength weakened every day. Allen Brown was one of Springfield's noble young men. He was a favorite with every one who knew him, and he always had a kind word for every person. As a son he was dutiful and obedient, never giving his parents pain or cause of anxiety. As a business man he was prompt, energetic and reliable. He conducted his business carefully and successfully, in a marked degree for a young man. His mother is still living and is the wife of Dr. Townsend. He also leaves a brother, Harmon, who is now in Santa Fe, and a sister, Miss Mollie.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Judge Smith arrived in the city early this morning, and reopened court at nine o'clock.

James P. Nolan, of the St Louis and San Francisco Line, was in the city yesterday. "Jim" was formerly with the Wabash.

Fred W. Shaw, one of the handsome railroaders of Terre Haute, Ind., was in the city last evening and to day is paying his respects to his Decatur friends.

Madame Alexander, the clairvoyant, who speaks German, French and English, will remain at the Commercial Hotel for another week.

Dr. W. W. Pierce, late of Shelbyville, and formerly of Argenta, is in town to-day on his way to Fargo, Dakota territory, in which frigid region he has an idea of locating.

Agent Watchtel, representing Charles E. Ford's Comic Opera Company, which will present Olivette" at the opera house next Monday evening, 30th inst., paid us a business call to-day.

J. B. Cohrs, Esq., of Peoria, attorney general for the Peoria, Decatur & Evansville Railway Company, is in the city.—His company has been sued by John J. Funk to recover $10,000 damages, and the case is now on trial in the circuit court.

Samuel D. Smith, who formerly resided in Decatur with his family, was in the city yesterday in the interest of Edward King, of Chicago, manufacturer of quick rising flour and jobber in fine crackers and biscuit. Mr. Smith's sojourn in Chicago has impaired his health somewhat, but he hopes by traveling to regain his wonted strength and vigor.

A Church Wedding.

The German Lutheran Church on West Wood street, last evening, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Emma Delbridge, of Blue Mound, a grand daughter of Mr Ernest Delbridge, and Mr. George W. Kraft, foreman of the Kepler cigar manufactory, and the Captain of Rescue Hose Co. No 1, and the trainer of the prize running crew which has given our fire department such a big name abroad. The ceremony, which was short and sweet, was performed by the pastor of the charge, Rev. Mr. Landgraff, in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties, among whom were Sheriff and Mrs. W. W. Foster and Fire Chief and Mrs J. S. Hewes. Mr. Kraft and bride departed for Chicago on the midnight express. They will return to Decatur in a few days. The REPUBLICAN offers its warmest congratulations on the consummation of the happy marriage.

May Queen Festival.

The ladies of the House of Prayer, on East Eldorado street, intend giving a festival at the tabernacle on Monday evening, May 30. The ladies of the congregation have spared no pains to make it an attractive entertainment. The first part of the evening will be devoted to the beautiful May Queen Festival, participated in by a large number of children, after which strawberries, ice cream, cake, etc., will be served. A $10,000 CASE.

The case of John J. Funk, of Warrensburg, this county, against the Peoria, Decatur and Evansville R'y Co., is on trial by jury. It is an action to recover alleged damages to the amount of $10,000 from the railroad company, in compensation for serious and permanent injuries received at Pekin on the evening of June 11, 1878, where it is declared Mr. Funk was knocked off a car at the elevator tunnel, receiving injuries of such a nature by the shock and fall as to impair his mental and physical faculties. His head was so badly affected for a time that he was an inmate of the insane asylum at Jacksonville, but is now sane and is considered a competent witness in court. His right side is partially paralyzed, and he has an impediment in his speech. The plaintiff is represented by Judge Thornton and W. C. Johns, and the company by J. B. Cohrs, of Peoria, attorney for the road, and Roby, Outten & Vail, of Decatur.

THE LINTNER STABLES.

A Model $1,000 Home for Roadster Horses, at the Foot of South Main Street.

Most of our readers are aware of the fact that Mr. Harry C. Lintner, only son of the late William Lintner, has expended about $1,000 in building fine sale stables on South Main street. They contain 12 perfect box stalls, each of large dimensions, and are fitted up throughout regardless of expense, with an eye single to beauty and the comfort of the

that have been purchased by Mr. Lintner, and which he, with the assistance of his hostlers, Larkin Saubridge and Will Hughes, is putting in good condition for gentle and rapid travelers, to be sold to those who will buy. The horses now on hand include the following:

"Calcine," a sorrell colt, 3 years old, with a trotting record of 2:34.
"Mabel Pearl," a black filly, 3 years old.
"Darby," a bay colt, 3 years old.
"Jack of Clubs," a 6-year old black roadster.
"McClelland," a 5-year old bay.
"Cub," a 5 year old black roadster.
"George Watt," a splendid looking six year old black roadster.

Mr. Lintner has also lately purchased a handsome pair of matched bay horses for double driving. They are Norman stock, and have fine action.

Several of the horses will probably be shown at our approaching county fair, in which event the Lintner stable on the grounds will be one of the chief attractions among admirers of fine horses—Harry will make the enterprise of buying and selling roadster horses a business, because it is congenial to him, and because it is more healthful to him to take outdoor exercise as much as possible.

A better or larger assortment of DRY GOODS and CARPETS adapted to the wants of this community cannot be found anywhere else, and as we Buy in Large Quantities, and chiefly of the Importers and Manufacturers, and as our Sales exceed that of any other House in the United States according to population, which requires a very small per cent. on the amount of our sales to pay our expenses, it will not be taxing the credulity of the people too much when we claim that no House in Chicago or St. Louis, much less in Decatur, can compete with us in LOW PRICES, because the expenses of the former, according to sales, double that of ours; while the pretentions of the latter—at least those who pretend to be "Leaders" and "Importers" and buyers for cash—presume greatly on the ignorance of the public, when they try to set themselves up as competitors.

We know how to buy goods, where to buy them, and what will sell them.

Conkling as an Object of Worship

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, which has abused Senator Conkling as bitterly as any paper in the country, is just enough to write the following

To get a thorough understanding of the machine politician he must be judged entirely by his acts, as a personal acquaintance warps the judgment and destroys what might be a first class opinion, because the feelings are called into play Beginning with the pages, who skip and flit like butterflies in the senate floor, all unite in the worship of Senator Conkling He never has to clap his hands to bring a page, for the moment he begins work that would require the service two or three of these lynx eyed dots are at his elbow, all anxious for the honor to serve him The writer asked a bright little page why the boys were so willing to do his bidding He replied "He never said a cross word to a page in his life He says, 'My little man, will you do this kindness for me?' Then we all run!" Just what the sunshine is to this physical world this something which goes from every man or woman in a greater or less degree is what acts upon humanity It is not love, because it is devoid of passion. It must be the power of the reflection of the Deity It is a force that cannot be estimated or measured, and it is given to only a very few in any age The great Napoleon possessed it in the largest degree of any man in modern times

DURING the year 1880 20,000 Chinese were converted to Christianity by missionaries sent to China for the purpose But the Mohammedan missionaries did five times better during the same time They preached the pleasures of Paradise and the beauty of its houris and secured over 100,000 converts to Islamism
